IPSWICH HIGH SCHOOL

IPSWICH, MASSACHUSETTS

LUCY A. HILL

DEDICATION

One of the first teachers we met when we entered Ipswich High School was Miss Hill. Very sympathetic and understanding, she guided us along those first months of difficult adjustment in our high school career. As a teacher, she gave us necessary academic training. As a friend, she was always there when we needed help and advice. We will always remember Miss Hill when we leave Ipswich High School, and we know that incoming classes will appreciate, as we did, her sincere interest and desire to help the youth of Ipswich.

FOREWORD

The past twelve years of organized study and recreation have helped us mature and have prepared us to face and cope with our present-day world. To some the doors of higher institutions are opening. To others the business world is beckoning. Still others will find their place as homemakers. No matter what goals we set for ourselves, if we approach our daily tasks with vigor and enthusiasm, and live up to our responsibilities, we shall attain those goals.

The friends, memories, and knowledge which we have acquired in high school will prove to be important milestones in our lives. We all possess potential qualities of nobility, virtue, and success; it is for us to develop them.

As we leave Ipswich High School, we shall recall the valuable experiences we have gained and the happy times we have had here. Our only hope is that we are now ready to take our rightful place as young adults in modern society.

"She loves to laugh, she loves all fun,

She's never quiet when school's begun."

Life is never dull when Pat's around. A vivacious personality and cheerful ways are but two of her outstanding qualities. In whatever career Pat may choose, she may be assured of happiness and success.

We all enjoyed having you as one of our classmates, "Stan," and you are sure to be a success at whatever goal you have set for yourself.

JANE THOMSON

"From her bright eyes—you see a smile."

Although given the title of "Class Saint," she is full of fun and chatter. We'll always remember Jane's Scottish accent even though we tease her now. She wants to become a nurse—and she'll make a good one!

CLASS DAY SPEAKERS

CLASS HISTORY by Carole Bailey

We entered Ipswich High School as eighth graders in September of 1952 and looked forward to five happy years here.

Our class officers for this year were President, Carole Bailey; Vice-President, Peter Flynn; Secretary, Alverna Shea; Treasurer, "Honest Jahn" Gillespie.

Although most of the girls had a crush on Mr. Saba, our fascinating science teacher, Pat and Debbie preferred the more sophisticated senior boys. This year our boys had a very successful season in football. The captain, Dick Callum was unable to play, however, because he broke his toe the first day of practice. It was in civics with Mr. Mudge that Debby gave her classic definitions of "Presbyterian." I'm sure one thing we'll never forget is Edgar Allen Poe's Gold Bug which Miss Hill so diligently pounded into our young minds. This year we held an Eighth Grade Social. The Decoration Committee ingeniously planted tulips from one side of the auditorium to the other. Alverna Shea and Suzie Harding became celebrities as they were caught by the reporters in the act of mixing the punch. The ability of our Class Athlete, Jack Gillespie, was in evidence this year, for he was the sole recipient of a letter. As an example of the change of times, we had Dick Callum singing "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen" to a certain Irish miss.

By the time we had mastered our locker combinations, became accustomed to the stair system, and figured out our study hall seats, summer was upon us, and we left school to enjoy a carefree vacation.

When we entered school the following September, we were greeted by our new principal, Mr. Stanton, who had many new ideas for us. Our first representatives in a resurrected Student Council were Jahn Walker, Peter Flynn, and Carole Bailey.

We chose for our class officers President, Peter Flynn; Vice-President, Carole Bailey; Secretary, Marilyn Sucharski; Treasurer, John Walker.

Several of our classmates left us this year, but our Scottish Miss, Jane Tamson, filled one of the vacancies. Dick Collum was our first hot-rodder. His 1937 Plymouth was always crammed with kids. The wrestling matches between "Wild Bull Ready" and "Slippery Sam Stewart" proved hilarious even to the upper-classmen. Our class dance, the St. Patrick's Day Dance, was held on March 12.

June was soon upon us, and we were out on another vacation.

The following year we were greeted by our new principal, Mr. Pressley.

Our class leaders for our sophomore year were President, Peter Flynn; Vice-President, Bill Baker; Secretary, Morilyn Sucharski; Treasurer, John Walker.

John Williams and Ronnie Saris joined us this year; the two proved amiable classmates and were welcomed additions to our ranks. Jack Gillespie's grandmother became quite a celebrity from the stories related to us in biology. In the Second Variety Show, Cutting Capers II, a few of the sophomore girls presented "Mr. Sandman" and even got their pictures in the paper, striped night-shirts and all.

At the end of the year we lost a treasured member of our faculty, Mr. Saba, who left us and went to Rondolph High.

Before we actually realized it, we were juniors, full-fledged upper-classmen.

Our class officers were President, Peter Flynn; Vice-President, Bill Baker; Secretary, Carole Bailey; Treasurer, John Walker.

The majority of us took United States History this year. I'm sure we'll never forget the trip we took with Mr. Bernard. Three of our more athletic individuals, Fred Hill, Bill Boylan, and Jim Greenough, climbed the Bunker Hill Monument twice; at least that's what they said. Leah Wilson found the rocks in the dark room at Harvard Museum interesting for some reason or other.

During English class, a raincoat was as necessary as a literature book for Jeanne, who was in the direct line of fire of the menacing water pistols of David and John. Our parking lot received quite a colorful addition, Bill's Model A—plaid interior and all. Terry Babineau's exotic hair styles provided conversation for many lunch tables.

After months of tedious anticipation our rings finally arrived. Everyone displayed his proudly except a few boys who had to kiss them good-bye.

Carol Horsman was selected as Girls' State Representative and Dexter, Peter, and Billy as Boys' State Representatives. All were well deserving of this honor. Some of our more talented classmates presented the annual Memorial Day Play under the direction of Miss Blodgett. Toward the end of the year five members of the class were selected to the National Honor Society. At an impressive ceremony, Carol Horsman, Stephanie Richardson, Carole Bailey, Peter Flynn, and Billy Baker were inducted by the Chapter from Marblehead.

The Junior Prom was a successful event held on May 4. Betty and Pat did a laudable job of providing the Spanish theme. Paul Badger played the music for this memorable affair.

After the Prom, the days seemed to fly by, and soon we were on another vacation.

When we returned to school again, we occupied the most envied home room, study hall.

When we finally settled down to business, we selected our class officers, who remained the same as in our junior year: President, Peter Flynn; Vice-President, Bill Baker; Secretary, Carole Bailey; Treasurer, John Walker.

This year Stephanie Richardson, Betty Goot, Leah Wilson, and Ginney Grant represented us on the cheering squad. Because of lack of experience the team had a rather unsuccessful year, but this was no reflection on the captains, Billy Baker, Bill Boylan, and Bob Antonucci. Jack Gillespie, who was voted the Most Popular Player, added another trophy to his collection. Talent was shown in our midst when the "Harmonaires" was born. With our "Most Dignified," Jeanne Langmaid on the "88's" and "Class Musicians," Joel and Johnny, on the trombone and trumpet respectively, and two junior high pupils on the drums and clarinet our Jazz Quintet was organized. Soon the Quintet changed to a Sextet as Dexter, Pat Boone's competition, joined them and made a hit with "Rock a Bye, My Baby."

The Christmas spirit was soon in evidence; we held Senior Day on December 20. After the traditional turkey dinner, the class went to the auditorium where our Santa Claus, Stanley Swencki, distributed many hilarious gifts.

The Student vs. the Faculty game was quite a gay affair especially when Pete and Ronny displayed their talents as cheerleaders. In the field of awards Stephanie Richardson became D.A.R. girl and Janet Riddle the Betty Crocker of I.H.S. Marcia, Stephanie, and Pete were chosen to write and present graduation essays, honors which came as no great surprise. Pete was sent to represent us in the Capitol on Good Government Day. Parts for the Senior Play, Curtain Going Up, were given out to deserving students. Leah, our class rebel, was delighted to have a chance to display her southern accent.

Now the activities of the class of '57 are brought up to date. Wherever our paths may lead us next year—service, marriage, or college—our hearts will always wander back to Ipswich High where we spent our happiest days.

By John Walker and John Williams

J. Walker: There you are I've been looking everywhere for you.

J. Williams: Why, I've been looking everywhere for you, too!

J. Walker: Where did you get the trunk?

J. Williams: I found it in my attic. Maybe we can find some gifts for the girls.

J. Walker: I hope so—hey! How about this leash for Carole Bailey so she can hold on to the boy she loves.

J. Williams: Good. To keep her out of the dark, we'll give this candle to Beverly "Knight."

J. Walker: This polka dot nail polish will be just right for Eleanor Bennett. I'll bet she has not used this kind yet.

J. Williams: Since Janet Riddle, our future homemaker, is winning awards in cooking, this book will introduce her to some French recipes.

J. Walker: Sylvia McCarthy needs a car to get to civilization once in a while.

J. Williams: This report card with a "F" will be a novelty to Marcia Holda.

J. Walker: To Virginia Grant goes this package of chewing gum if she promises not to chew it in class.

J. Williams: And how about this yellow dye for Marilyn Sucharski. We'd hate to have her lose her blonde hair.

J. Walker: Priscilla Woleyko, our best dressed girl, gets a copy of "Seventeen."

J. Williams: To Joanne Wilkins we'll give a rubber hammer to knock out any dents she might get in her car.

J. Walker: This gold halo will be perfect for our class saint—Jane Thomson.

J. Williams: And how about this key for Pat Surpitski to keep her wound up all the time?

J. Walker: Since Irene Doucet intends to be a librarian, this Dewey Decimal System is just what she will need to keep her library in order.

J. Williams: To Leah Wilson, who is shortly returning to Florida, we give this sun tan lotion so she will acquire a tan immediately.

J. Walker: Since Stephanie Richardson, our D. A. R. girl, has the most school spirit, we'll give her this high school banner.

J. Williams: Carol Horsman, who plans one day to be an airline stewardess, will need these anti-airsick pills.

J. Walker: We'd like to give Janice Knowles this basketball to remind her of her days on Coach Cogswell's team.

J. Williams: To Deborah Elliott goes this Jaguar of her own.

J. Walker: To Carol Rathe goes this speed boat so she can cruise up and down the river.

J. Williams: Let's give these false teeth to Barbara Williams who will soon begin her career as a dental assistant.

J. Walker: Here's a heavy duty anchor for Janice Cookson to hold her boy in Ipswich.

J. Williams: And how about an alarm clock for Jeanne Langmaid to get her to school on time!

J. Walker: To quiet Jean Andrews we'll give this trumpet so we'll know when she's around.

J. Williams: This roll of typewriter ribbon will be useful to Marlene Stone. She can replace all those she's worn out while typing for Miss Mackey.

J. Walker: This book, "French Through Pictures," will be just what the doctor ordered for Peggy Michaud.

J. Williams: And how about this "Oscar" for our class actress—Lee Pelletier.

J. Walker: For Cathleen Carey we have this book, "Popularity Plus" since she's been so popular.

J. Williams: For Barbara Weagle, whose disposition is so sweet, we have this box of lolly-pops.

J. Walker: A spy glass will help Laura Chadbourne watch her boy friend while he's away.

J. Williams: Let's give Mildred Krakowski this "good for a life time" pencil for her future shorthand assignments.

J. Walker: Here's a double duty dishwashing machine for Barbara Bowen. She'll make double use of it at Janice's.

J. Williams: Since Marilyn Ricker wants to live closer to town, here's a house to live in.

J. Walker: How about a megaphone to remind Betty Goot of her cheerleading days?

J. Williams: To Alverna Shea goes this bus so she can transport more kids to school every day.

J. Walker: How about this watch to remind Dianne Stevens of all the hours she spent working at Quint's Variety Store.

J. Williams: Mary Jane Wilson can practice on this doll for her future nursing career.

J. Walker: This bottle of milk will be just the thing to remind Sandra Dow of the many hours she spent at the Ipswich Dairy.

J. Williams: To Judy Orsini, who spent many hours at Donutland, we give the hole of a doughnut.

J. Walker: To Barbara Martel goes this monthly appointment card at "Pierre de Ritz" to keep her hair looking neat and chic.

J. Williams: How about giving talented Jean Mehaffey a contract as fashion designer for "Mademoiselle."

J. Walker: To Mildred Lynch—we give this jar of beauty cream so that she may never lose the "peaches and cream" complexion.

J. Williams: And to Joyce Douglas we give this waving set so she will always keep her natural waves.

J. Walker: Well, I guess that takes care of all the girls. I hope we haven't forgotten anyone.

J. Williams: No, I don't think so. Let's go.

GIFTS TO THE BOYS

By Patricia Surpitski and Elizabeth Goot

One bright and sunny day in May
When Pat and I were fishing in Ipswich bay,
A little worm we were about to hook
Till suddenly we spied his terrified look.

We cast the line without the worm
And sat there watching the fishes squirm
Suddenly we felt a tug,
So we pulled and pulled with a tremendous thug
And discovered an ancient pirate's trunk.

Sealed and covered with ocean debris
Excitedly we struggled until it was free
In this trunk were many jokes and toys,
And right on top, a note stating
"These are the gifts for the senior boys."

BOB ANTONUCCI

To Bob, who'll soon hear wedding bells
At least, so a little bird tells,
At this time we would like to suggest
These linen towels for Pat's hopechest.

TERRY BABINEAU

For Terry we have this little sign
Heading not too far from the Ipswich line,
The arrow points north—the shortest way
To Rowley that is, three miles away.

BILL BAKER

To Bill, as a reminder of the Senior Play
Here's something to take on your merry way,
To you we give this little mouse
We hope she won't frighten you out of the house.

JACK BILLINGS

Jack who drives so perfectly—
Even though the police do not agree,
We have for you this little bike
So next time you won't have to hike.

BILL BOYLAN

To Bill, a funny and mischievous guy
Whose antics make the teachers sigh,
A bag of pennies we have for you
To replace the many which you threw.

DEXTER BROWN

Dexter Brown, who likes to sing
May he some day be as great as "Bing",
To keep your voice from growing weak,
We give you this spray so it won't squeak.

JOEL CAVERLY

To Joel we give this washboard
On which he can play many a chord,
We hope he will be the greatest in the land
And maybe play in Spike Jones' band.

DICK COLLUM

Dick was once a mischievous lad
Whose antics nearly drove us mad,
Then a certain Junior Miss toned him down
We give him now, this special crown.

BOB COMO

The barber of our class is Bob
Who, we know, will do an excellent job,
To keep his customers' hair in trim
We give this bowl and scissors to him.

CHRIS COOPER

Chris works at the First National Store
And carries many bundles galore,
Put this little wagon to work
No need now—your duties to shirk!

TOM CRAMPSEY

To Tom, we have for your hair
These three packages of Tintair,
A different color, for each outfit
I'm sure you're bound to make a hit.

DICK CUNNINGHAM

Dick, a great admirer of girls
Especially girls with pretty curls,
This should start you spinning to and fro,
When we give you this cute tomato.

BOB DePAOLA

Bob has worked so very hard
At our Grossman's Lumber Yard,
His hands will soon be red and rough
For him, these working gloves are just the stuff.

DAVID EWING

This mirror goes to our handsome Dove
Whose looks so many of us crave,
May you always remain as trim and neat
For it's a combination that's hard to beat.

PETER FLYNN

A funny character is our Pete
His hysterical laughter, he cannot defeat,
This handkerchief can dry hereafter
The tears you shed from constant laughter.

JACK GILLESPIE

Although Jack is active on the football field
Being lazy is one thing he cannot conceal,
This rocking-chair will put you at ease
You can rock and dream as much as you please.

GEORGE GORDON

George is the fastest driver in our class
So students found who tried to pass,
To hold you back in many a race
We give you this turtle to set the pace.

CLYDE HARDING

To Clyde, a quiet and studious lad,
We hope this gift will make you glad,
To help you successfully on your way
We give you a report card with a big broad "A."

ED GORSKI

Ed likes hunting for big game
What else could suit his dearest aim,
Here is a gun that should not fail
To catch a pretty, young female.

JIM GREENOUGH

To "Gull," the name given to Jim
Which, we think, was willingly accepted by him,
Since seagulls have but only one wish
We toss you, Jim, this little fish.

FRED HALL

A minister, Fred Hall, hopes someday to be
And we wish to help him as soon you will see,
For we're giving him a book from which to preach
All the good lessons, this fine book does teach.

BOB HILLS

We really must declare
That Woody's appetite is like a bear,
Since your appetite is so great
Honey will be pleasant to take.

NICK KOKINACIS

Nick is a great Yankee fan,
And hopes to play for them if he can,
We give to you this bat and ball
May you be the greatest of them all.

KENNETH KNOWLES

To Ken, who is a "whiz" in Shop
When pounding nails he can be stopped,
This gauze and tape, good bandages will make
If you should pound your fingers by mistake.

JOHN PAPPAS

We have for John, our class baby
This diaper tiny and sweet,
Although I'm afraid it will be too small
It will be a remembrance of us all.

SHAND ROBINS

Washing dishes is not Shand's main desire
And if he could he would retire,
To smooth his rough, red dishpan hands
This sandpaper we have—to meet his demands.

RONNIE SARIS

To Ron, whose curls are very slight,
We thought this kit would make them tight,
Read the instruction before you start,
Or the result may break some dear girl's heart.

MIKE SMOLAK

To Mike, who often sits a wishin'
That he could be outdoors a fishin',
This pail of worms will not fail
To help him catch a tremendous whale.

PAUL STACKHOUSE

To Paul who has a gun collection
We give this gun with one exception,
It will not kill, hurt, or stun
It's just a little toy pop gun.

TOM STEWART

Tom is just a farmer at heart
And to give him a successful start,
This rooster will crow early each morn'
For farmers awake at the break of dawn.

STANLEY SWENCKI

To keep Stan's car on the go
And never have his car run low,
We give this gas pump filled to the top
This should never let your gas meter drop.

JOHN WILLIAMS

Since John might regain the pounds he has lost
We tried to buy something at a real low cost,
We went from store to store until we found
This book of calories to keep down the pounds.

JOHN WALKER

John, for years, took care of our money
Collecting dues was not very funny,
This check should cover what you didn't get
From all the boys who did forget.
On the bottom of the trunk we found another note,
This one stating "Take these pranks as a joke,"
Now Pat and I would like to say,
Good luck to you boys, who'll soon be on your way.

CLASS PROPHECY

Time: 1967

Characters: Willard Baker, Carol Horsman

Scene: On board a Strata-cruiser of a leading airline.
(Flight captain approaches new Hostess.)

- Bill. Aren't you Carol Horsman? Remember? We used to go to school together. I'm Bill Baker.
- Carol. Yes, of course, we did the Class Prophecy, didn't we?
- Bill. Have you seen or heard of any of our former classmates?
- Carol. Yes, just last night I was in the Stork Club, which is now owned by millionaire restaurant owner, John Poppas, where the feature orchestra was none other than John Walker's and Joel Coverly's. They've just about killed Rock 'n' Roll.
- Bill. Speaking of Rock 'n' Roll, I hear Virginio Grant and Bob Camo are operating a dancing school in South Africa, where natives liked the jitterbug so well, they now use it for ceremonial dances.
- Carol. In the field of sports, I read that Nick Kakinocis has taken Bob Cousery's position, and Jim Greenough, Bill Russell's on the Boston Celtics, now owned and coached by Dick Cunningham.
- Bill. Yes, and Janice Knowles is head coach of the U.S. Olympic team. Also Stephanie Richardsan is Head Cheerleader for the team, and Corole Bailey is a pole-vaulter.
- Carol. Also I understand George Gordon owns the Indianapolis speedway where Paul Stackhouse, Kenny Knowles, and Jock Billings are top notch drivers.
- Bill. Speaking of cars—Bob DePoulo now owns a huge auto clinic, where Tom Crampsey is head mechanic.
- Carol. And in the world of show business, Carol Rothe is now a Metropolitan Opera singer.
- Bill. Two of our classmates have made good in New York, also, Terry Bobineau is a drama critic, and Dexter Brown is a Shakespearean actor.

- Bill. Jean Andrews and Mildred Lynch, two of our quietest girls, are now gag writers for the "Red" Skelton show.
- Carol. There are quite a few kids back home who have been very successful. Marcia Halda and Peggy Michoud are head nurses at the Coble Memorial Hospital, where nurse Mary Jane Wilson has complete charge of the hospital morgue.
- Bill. Tom Stewart now runs the Candlewood Dairy Farm and has developed a breed which gives Chocolate Milk.
- Carol. Barbara Weogle and Marlene Stone run a very successful nursery school. They have enrolled quite a few children of our classmates, plus a couple of their own.
- Bill. Rev. Fred Hall now has his own parish and has just united Jack Gillespie and Pat Surpitski in marriage.
- Carol. Cris Cooper runs a taxi service to and from the Neck.
- Bill. Cathleen Corey is now operating a safe (?) driving school.
- Carol. I understand Bob Bowen bought out Tyler's Black and converted it into a huge soda fountain center for the high school crowd.
- Bill. Barb Williams is the head of her own dental center in Ipswich.
- Carol. Also in the field of medicine are Betty Goot, a medical secretary at the Moyo Clinic, and Clyde Harding a bio-chemist there.
- Bill. Alverna Shea, Barb Martel, and Jeon Mehoffey are all teachers at the new Rowley High School.
- Carol. Two of our classmates, Ed Gorski and Mike Smolok, set out for adventure after graduation. When last seen they were floating across the Pacific on a raft they designed as Seniors.
- Bill. Many of our classmates have been successful in industry; for example, Eleanor Bennett is a manufacturer of finger nail polish.
- Carol. And there is John Williams, the great industrialist, who is said to control one third of the capital invested in the oil fields of East Mongolia.
- Bill. Yes, and I hear Marilyn Sucharski is his private secretary.
- Carol. Dick Collum now operates a chain of grocery stores so large that he's putting the First National out of business.
- Bill. Bob Antonucci is the proprietor of a fabulous new meat market in Wokefield.
- Carol. Remember Bill Baylon used to work as an usher at the Strand Theatre? Well, he married the boss's daughter and now owns the whole chain.
- Bill. Janice Cooksan and Joyce Douglass own jointly a beauty salon which is doing a tremendous business.
- Carol. Imagine, Pete Flynn, our most popular boy, now President of the United States! I knew we could expect big things from Pete.
- Bill. Irene Doucet is in Washington, too. She is head librarian at the Library of Congress.

Carol. David Ewing is a captain in the Foreign Legion and has Robert Hills as a subordinate officer.

Bill. Beverly Knight is now an executive officer for the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Carol. Shond Rabins is a great investor and has cornered the market on watch hands.

Bill. Oh! That reminds me! My flight leaves at 2:30, and it's almost that now. So our discussion of our classmates will have to end.

Carol. Yes, and it's been such fun talking to you. Good-bye! See you soon.

Bill. I really enjoyed our get-together, too. Good-bye!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Be it remembered that we, the graduating class of 1957 of Ipswich High School, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being of sound mind and memory, but knowing the uncertainty of life, do make this our last will and testament, hereby, revoking all former wills by us at any time heretofore made.

VARSITY

COACHES

John Grody, Elliott Roundy, and Robert Burke

The 1956-57 football season was far from what I. H. S. has been accustomed to, but despite the 2 wins and 6 losses, there was never a player out on the field who wasn't doing his best.

Our losses were as follows:

Tewksbury	12	Ipswich	0
N. Andover	7	Ipswich	6
Morlboro	32	Ipswich	6
Chelmsford	35	Ipswich	12
Drocut	19	Ipswich	12

Our two lone victories were:

Ipswich	13	Weston	7
Ipswich	13	Billerico	6

Despite a very poor start, Ipswich climaxed the season with a brilliant 13-6 victory over Billerico. This victory alone, atoned somewhat, for the losses incurred earlier.

Everything points to a far better season next year, and the Class of 1957 wishes the Football Squad the best of luck in the future.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

Basketball proved to be the most popular athletic activity for the girls. This year's varsity was very successful, winning 10 out of 12 games; thus we can well be proud of the Tigresses of '57.

Everyone on next year's team will miss Mory Jone Wilson and Carol Horsmon, who by their skillful shooting, won many a valuable game. Corole Bailey, Stephonie Richardson, and Betty Goot of the Junior Varsity, played exceptionally well all season. "Borb" Williams, who previously played forward, switched over to play guard. Jonice Knowles will leave a spot hard to fill by any future guard.

On Monday evenings at seven the gym team has met under the supervision of Cooch Burke. The boys have taken much interest and improved greatly in their gymnastics. Under Cooch Burke's guidance they have learned flips from the springboard, handstands on the parallel bars, dismounts on the rings, and various formations on the mats. The high jump bar has been used several times and the boxing gloves have also been in action.

The gym team put on a fine exhibition in the spring.

JUNIOR PROM

Gay and colorful Spanish senioritas and matadors provided the theme for our Junior Prom held on May 4. The intricate Grand March which was led by the class officers, went off very smoothly. We spent the rest of the evening dancing to dreamy melodies played by Paul Badger's Orchestra. This memorable evening is one we'll never forget.
